Dear Mr. Wells,

Yours is an interesting letter. It is not only true that the american public can take the truth, it is essential that they have it. This is the only way in which a democratic society can function.

I believe that if enough people expressed their doubts or demands to their legislators, there would be a better chance of faster action.

Without the second book, which was mailed to you today, WHITEWASH:THE REPORT ON THE WARREN REPORT, destroys the Report with the Commission's own public record. Between the two, there is nothing left of the Report but the need for an autopsy, completely public.

I haven't read the Belle book, although I have heard of it. I have had little time for reading in the past several years, for almost every minute has been spent in research, writing or related things.

Thanks for taking the time to write.

Sincerely yours,

Harold Weisberg
